Trittsiegel Dromedar

A close-up photograph of a camel's footprint in dry, greyish-brown soil. The footprint is a distinct, dark, oval-shaped impression with a slightly irregular, textured surface. The surrounding soil is fine-grained and contains some small, dry plant matter.

Losung Dromedar

A photograph of a camel's footprint in reddish-brown sand. The footprint is a large, dark, oval-shaped impression. Inside the footprint, there are several dark, rounded objects, likely camel droppings, which are scattered across the impression. The sand is fine-grained and has a warm, reddish-brown hue.

An aerial photograph of a salt flat in Dschanub asch-Scharqiyya. The landscape is a vast, flat expanse of white and light-colored mineral deposits, likely sodium sulfate. The surface is marked by intricate, winding patterns of orange and brown, which are likely iron oxide or other mineral inclusions. The overall appearance is that of a dry, crystalline landscape. A watermark 'alpgehnuss.ch' is visible in the upper left quadrant.
